

Chairman: What did you find there?

Accused: A TV, kitchenware (silver, crystal, medal of Zhukov, video camera, swords, a red bag with personal belongings of [REDACTED] (the victim)).

Chairman: Marauding, vigilantism, fraud, looting, unlawful detention.

Defender: "Luka" was among the first to come [to the militia], and he brought people with him. I have nothing more to say.

Chairman: When did he come?

Accused: I was at the barricades from the first days. I was a platoon commander in "Balu's" unit. I served in Crimea.

Chairman: Why did you come here?

Accused: I am local. I joined in the very beginning.

Chairman: Did you take part in combat?

Accused: Yes, at "Slavkurort."

Chairman: Do you understand the gravity of the offense? Do you agree with it?

Accused: I do.

Chairman: Are you guilty?

Accused: I plead guilty.

Chairman: What can you say about seizing silver cutlery and money?

Accused: I ordered to search for weapons and the medal.

Chairman: Why do you have the cutlery?

Accused: I followed "Bolgar's" orders. I was safekeeping them until further instruction.

Chairman: Why didn't you report it to your commander?

Accused: I reported it to "Bolgar," my commander.

Chairman: Did you tell him that you were working in cooperation with "Nos" and Vyacheslav Ponomaryov (people's mayor of Slovyansk)?

Accused: I didn't. I only wanted to seize the cars following my commander's orders.

Chairman: Why Vyacheslav Ponomaryov?

Accused: Vyacheslav Ponomaryov helped me when I started commandeering vehicles.
